

The University of Lübeck stands for excellent research and excellent teaching. We are a modern foundation university with thematically focused study programmes. Under the motto "Focus on Life", as a life science university we offer a spectrum ranging from medicine, health sciences and psychology to mathematics, computer science, natural sciences and technology.

The Institute for Software Technology and Programming Languages (Director: Prof. Dr. Martin Leucker) at the University of Lübeck has a vacancy for an unlimited period of time as a

System Administrator (m/f/d)

in full-time (currently 38.7 hours per week).

The Institute of Software Engineering and Programming Languages offers an interesting job in a university environment with a flexible working time model and flexitime with an open working climate in a collegial atmosphere. A variety of opportunities for further education and training are offered.

Tasks

- Setting up, expanding, planning and maintaining new and existing IT infrastructures, especially in the context of research projects.
- Installation, configuration, maintenance and monitoring of our Linux and Windows servers, databases and clients
- System-technical support for student software projects
- Design, administration and further development of web services (GitLab, Redmine, SVN, web servers, cloud servers etc.)
- Independent implementation of IT introduction projects (incl. communication and support for users)
- First and second level support
- Procurement, installation and maintenance of hardware and software

Your profile

- Completed university degree in computer science/business informatics or completed vocational training in the IT field (preferably system integration) or several years of current professional experience in system administration
- Very good knowledge of Linux (LPIC-1 is desirable.)
- Expertise in server landscape, storage, virtualisation, LDAP, OAUTH
- good knowledge in network operation (DHCP, DNS).

We offer you

- Company pension scheme
- Flexible working hours
- Mobile working
- Opportunities to combine work and family life
- NAH.SH job ticket, participation in university sports, discounted canteen meals on campus and many other offers for employees
- Healthy university" health management
- Further training opportunities

UNIVERSITÄT ZU LÜBECK

The position will be graded according to the automatic pay scale up to pay group 11 TV-L if the requirements of the collective agreement are met. A final job evaluation remains reserved.

The University of Lübeck sees itself as a modern and cosmopolitan employer.

The University of Lübeck sees itself as a modern and cosmopolitan employer. We welcome your application regardless of your age, gender, cultural and social origin, religion, ideology, disability or sexual identity. We promote gender equality. Women will be given priority in cases of equal suitability, ability and professional performance. Applicants with severe disabilities or persons of equal status will be given preferential consideration if they are suitable.

If you have any further questions, please contact Prof. Dr. Martin Leucker (Martin.Leucker@uni-luebeck.de).

Please send written applications with the usual documents (curriculum vitae, certificates), quoting the reference number 2049/23, by 03 September 2023 (date of receipt) at the latest, summarised in a PDF document to bewerbung@uni-luebeck.de or by post to:

University of Lübeck - The President - Personnel Department
Ratzeburger Allee 160, 23562 Lübeck, Germany